SECTION G. DEFINITIONS

For the purpose of international standards, definitions are as close as possible to the accepted international definitions used by the National Speakers Association (USA) and the International Association of Speakers Bureaus.

1. SESSION

- a) The term 'session' is used to describe a paid speaking or training/workshop engagement.
- b) A session may be a 'live' speech at a physical or virtual meeting, conference or convention or a speech in one of the featured spots at an event.
- c) A session may be a training workshop for the purpose of imparting a particular skill or understanding.
- d) A session must involve the speaker delivering a minimum of 75% of the content using the spoken word. The balance may be audience participation, video, group discussion, audio, or similar.

2. SESSION GENERATED INCOME (SGI)

- a) Session generated income is income generated from the sale of products or services at a speaking or training event shown on the application spreadsheet.
- b) The purpose of speaking at the event must have been fully or partially to sell products or services.
- c) SGI can be
 - sales of the applicant's books and products at an event
 - income from a coaching program sold at an event
 - income from a consulting program sold at an event
- d) Some examples of SGI are:

Example 1. If an applicant delivers a session and makes back of the room sales of books or products, then that income can be included in SGI, even if the speaker was not paid a fee for the presentation itself.

Example 2. If an applicant delivers a session and provides an order form for sales of books or products, the sales generated by people handing in the order form at the event can be counted.

It is up to the applicant to provide evidence in their application that the sales were generated at a speaking event. This could be by providing the credit card transaction receipts showing the date of the transaction together with a dated order form.

Example 3. If an applicant delivers a session and provides an order form for sales of a coaching or consulting program, the sales generated by people handing in the order form at the event can be counted.

It is up to the applicant to provide evidence that the sales were generated at a speaking event. This could be by providing the credit card transaction receipts showing the date of transaction together with a dated order form.

Note: This is the only type of coaching or consulting income that can be counted towards CSP accreditation.

Example 4. If an applicant delivers a paid or free session including a pitch for a high-ticket seminar in the near future, and closes sales to several participants for that seminar, the ticket sales will count towards the threshold amount. However, there will be no double-counting for income towards the first session when the subsequent seminar takes place.

- e) The onus is on the applicant to provide the clear evidence that income being used in SGI calculations was generated at a speaking event, part of the purpose of which was to sell products or services. The evidence may be subject to full or partial audit. Evidence may be, for instance, a copy of the completed order form with the date of the presentation printed on it.
- f) The applicant may be asked for further evidence of SGI being generated at an event.

3. FACILITATION

- a) The definition of facilitation has become very broad in recent years and for some people includes training presentations. For the purpose of CSP applications, the definition of facilitation is:

Facilitation is where the leader (the applicant) provides process or direction to a group for the purpose of the group reaching a conclusion or direction which they will pursue. The majority of the input is from the participants, with the emphasis on the facilitator providing process, not content. Examples would be facilitating for a strategic planning session, a de-briefing session, a retreat, a staff meeting, or a specific problem-solving session. The presenter will have been booked mainly to provide a process, not to provide content or fresh insights from their body of work or intellectual property.

- b) Facilitation under this definition cannot be included in the CSP application spreadsheet.

4. EMCEE WORK

- a) An Emcee is a person who acts as Master of Ceremonies or programme host for an event.
- b) The Emcee manages the on-stage flow of speakers, entertainers, panellists and forums during an event.
- c) The Emcee's onstage work may include but not be limited to providing introductions of speakers, summarising speeches, engaging the audience to help them focus on specific information, entertainment or content that was provided by others.
- d) Applicants may include income from Emcee work in a CSP application.

5. VIRTUAL PRESENTATIONS

- a) Virtual sessions delivered using technology can be included in an application if they meet all other requirements and definitions.
- b) A virtual session could be defined as: a web-based seminar, presentation, or workshop that is transmitted live over the Internet, for example Zoom or Microsoft Teams.
- c) As technology advances, an applicant wishing to use a type of technology not listed here should ask before submitting their application if the session can be counted towards accreditation.
